

23 November 1954

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Intelligence

In our opinion there are serious gaps in our Intelligence covering the Soviet Bloc areas, particularly in relation to our ability to determine the capabilities of the Soviet Union to launch nuclear attacks against the U. S. and to detect indications of their intentions to do so. We believe that we could have a substantially improved capability of filling these gaps through the use of aerial reconnaissance and photography, and that today these methods are the most practicable additional means to this end.

25X1A9a

[REDACTED]
ALLEN W. PULLES
Director of Central Intelligence

W Park Armstrong Jr.
W. PARK ARMSTRONG, JR.
Spec. Asst. for Intelligence
Department of State

Arthur G. Trudeau
ARTHUR G. TRUDEAU
Major General, USA
Asst. Chief of Staff, G-2
Department of the Army

John A. Samford
JOHN A. SAMFORD
Major General, USAF
Director of Intelligence
Department of the Air Force

Carl F. Espe
CARL F. ESPE
Rear Admiral, USN
Director of Naval Intelligence
Dep. Director for Intelligence
The Joint Staff, JCS

Edwin T. Layton
EDWIN T. LAYTON
Rear Admiral, USN
Director for Intelligence
The Joint Staff, JCS

Harry S. Truman
HARRY S. TRAYNOR
Atomic Energy Commission
Representative to the IAC

RALPH R. ROACH
Acting Asst. to the Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation